No. 3960 OF 1901.

From

H. N. ALEXANDER, ESQUIRE,
Inspector-General of Prisons,
Bombay Presidency;

To

THE SECRETARY TO GOVERNMENT,
Judicial Department,
Bombay.

Inspector-General of Prisons' Office,
Bombay, 2nd July 1901.

SIR,

I have the honour to submit the Annual Administration Report, together with the usual tabular statements on the Prisons and Jails and Lock-ups in the Bombay Presidency (including the Province of Sind, and the settlement of Aden) for the year 1900. Mr. T. M. Filgate was in charge of the Jail Department throughout the year.

JUDICIAL.

2. During the year under report the number of Central, District, Special, and Extra-mural Prisons has undergone no change. As stated in paragraph 2 of the Annual Report of this Department for the year 1899, the statistics of all the Third Class Subsidiary Jails have been grouped together along with Lock-ups.

3. The summary prefixed to the statements in the appendix gives a comparative view of the number of prisoners—convicted, under-trial and civil—in confinement during the years 1899 and 1900. The total population in Prisons, First and Second Class Subsidiary Jails, Third Class Subsidiary Jails and Lock-ups, as well as Civil Jails during the year under report has been 148,330 as compared with 109,922 in 1899, an increase of 38,408; while the daily average population has risen from 10,949 to 14,725. The cause of the increase, referred to above, will be explained in a later portion of this report.

4. The subjoined table, which compares the figures of the past two years, refers to the admission of convicts into Prisons and First and Second Class Subsidary Jails only and requires no explanation.

5. There has been a general increase in the number of convicts received in all our Prisons, with the exception of the Common Prison of Bombay. The increase is most noticeable in the House of Correction, the Prison of Dhulia, and the Central Prison of Ahmedabad, where the admissions rose from 239, 1,311 and 2,701 in the year 1899 to 1,598, 3,275 and 4,636, respectively, during the year under report. The increase in the House of Correction is chiefly due to the temporary suspension of admissions into the Common Prison of Bombay, causing a decrease of 239 during the year in that Prison. It was found necessary to suspend the admission of convicts for a few weeks in consequence of the overcrowded state of the Prison at a time when relapsing fever was prevalent among its inmates. The very great increase in the number of convicts received in the Prison of Dhulia and the Central Prison of Ahmedabad is entirely due to the prevailing scarcity in those districts, and to this cause is also attributable the increase of 782 in Yeraoda, of 401 in Dhárwár, of 463 in Thána, of 203 in Bijápur and of 163 in Rájkot. The famine does not appear to have had any effect on the coast Prisons of Kárwár and Ratnágiri. The total increase in the three Prisons of Sind during the year under report has been 575, and this appears to be due to failure of crops in the Thar and Párkar District and to the rise in the prices of food-grains. There has been an increase of 832 in the number of admissions of female prisoners, equal to a little over 72 per cent., over the figures for the year 1899.

6. As regards the disposal of prisoners, it would appear that 1,110 more prisoners were transferred to other Jails than in 1899. These transfers have been carried out mainly with the object of relieving overcrowding. Prisoners from the Prison of Dhulia were transferred to the Deccan Gang, which was then encamped close to the town of Dhulia. A number of prisoners from the two Prisons of Bombay and First Class Subsidiary Jail of Násik were transferred to Thána for accommodation in the Nowpáda Asylum buildings. 413 male convicts were transferred during the year from the Prison of Dhárwár to the Central Prison of Yeraoda. No transports were deported to Port Blair in 1900, as the Madras authorities declined to receive them on account of prevalence of plague in this Presidency; but on 28th May 1901, 168 males and 16 females were sent there in the Royal Indian Marine Steamer "Dalhousie," which was placed at the disposal of this Department. The rise of 10,310 under the head "Released on expiry of sentence" is due to the short terms of sentences, six months and under, awarded during the year to a large number of convicts for petty offences of theft, as will be seen from the figures entered under columns 3A, 3B and 3C of Appendix D. The number released under the remission rules exhibit a decrease of 168. Of the eight prisoners released on account of sickness, three were set at liberty from the House of Correction and five from the Prison of Dhárwár—vide Government Resolutions noted in the margin. Of the five prisoners released from Dhárwár, two were, it appears, set at liberty in June last by order of the District Magistrate, under Government Resolution No. 6 of 3rd January 1898; these cases have not so far been reported to this office, but action is now being taken in the matter. Of the 806 prisoners who were released on other grounds, one was an ex-military convict who was released from the House of Correction a few days before the expiry of his sentence and deported to England. One permanently unfit life transport was released from the Ahmedabad Central Prison, three from the Yeraoda Central Prison and one from the Shikárpur Prison. 800 short-term prisoners were, under the orders of Government, also set at liberty. In addition to the above, 13 prisoners from the Third Class Subsidiary Jail of Dohad and 1 from Vinchur, who are included in the releases appearing in column 7 of Statement No. XVIII, were released. The Government Resolutions quoted in the margin will fully explain these releases. Six convicts were transferred to Lunatic Asylums and four escaped from the Prisons and Jails during the year under report. These figures are similar to those for 1899. The number of executions carried out during the year shows an increase of 9 when compared with the figure of the year previous. Of the 571 deaths which occurred during the year 1900, 501 were from Prisons and 70 from the Subsidiary Jails of the First and Second Class, and the cause of the increase in mortality will be explained when dealing with the vital statistics. Sixty-one Burmese and two State prisoners were in confinement on the last day of the year under report.

7. Turning to the figures appearing in the statement marginally noted, there appears a large increase in the admissions of Mahomedans, Hindus and Sikhs, attributable, no doubt, to famine and failure of crops. The number of juveniles admitted during the year under report were 207 males and 68 females, as compared with 96 males and 21 females in the year 1899. Of the 207 males and 68 females—of whom 19 had been previously convicted—146 males and 60 females were each sentenced to one month and under, 51 males and 8 females were each sentenced to over one month and under six months, and the remaining number to over six months. All other heads under column 4 "Age" naturally show an increase. The figures entered below column "Illiterate" show, as might be expected, a very large increase over the figures for the preceding year.

Statement No. II.—Religion, Age, Education and previous Occupation of Convicts.

8. Under the heading "Previous occupation," we find that all the subheads, with the exception of "Professional persons," show an increase, and this increase is most marked under "Engaged in agriculture and with animals," "Manufactures and Engineering operations, &c.," and "Engaged in commerce or trade." The increase under the above heads is, of course, again due to the famine. The percentage of number admitted to free population, according to the Census of 1891, has been 0·307 in 1900 against 0·208 in the year previous.

9. The first three heads of this statement show a very marked increase as compared with the figures for last year. The other heads call for no comment, except that the number of those sentenced to death rose from 60 in 1899 to 72 in the year under report. With the increase in the admissions into our Prisons and Jails, the prisoners sentenced to rigorous imprisonment show an increase of over ten thousand. The number sentenced to simple imprisonment show an increase of 302, while those sentenced to rigorous imprisonment with whipping show an increase of 40.

Statement No. III.—Nature and length of sentence.

10. The number of "Habituals" recognized previously to conviction, as shown in the accompanying table, indicates an increase of 28 per cent. over last year; this increase is, no doubt, due to the improved measures adopted by the Police. The comparative increase of over 30 per cent. under the fifth head of the table shows that the Jail officials take considerable interest in the work of identification of criminals.

Statement No. IV.—Reconvictions.

11. From the figures supplied by the Inspector-General of Police it appears that 169 convicts were identified in the Bombay Presidency, exclusive of Sind, by finger-tip impressions, as compared with 94 during the year previous. Of the 169 convicts, 47 were identified at Yeraoda, 33 at Dhulia, 31 at Thána, 16 at Ahmedabad, 9 at Ahmednagar, and the balance in the other parts of the Presidency.

Statement No. V.—Escapes and recaptures.

12. The number of prisoners who escaped during the year under report from Prisons has been 8, of whom 4 have been recaptured. In addition to this number, 4 prisoners, who escaped in previous years, were recaptured. Of the 8 escapes, 6 took place from outside and 2 from inside the Prison walls. As there is nothing of particular interest in connection with these escapes, I do not propose to give any account of them.

Statement No. VI.—Offences and punishments.

13. The statement noted in the margin deals with the offences committed by, and punishments awarded to, the convicts confined in Prisons and Subsidiary Jails. The offences dealt with by Criminal Courts have fallen in number from 18 in the year 1899 to 11 in the year under report.

Details are noted in the margin.

14. Although the number of offences committed and punishments awarded during the year show an increase, the increase is not high when compared with the daily average population of the Prisons and Jails. The percentage of punishments to daily average strength during the year 1900 was 82·3 as against 100·1 during the previous year. The figures appearing in the first three heads of the following table show an increase, while offences relating to "All other breaches of Prison Rules" show a decline of 59 :—

15. The following table deals with the punishments inflicted during the past two years. The total number of major and minor punishments awarded by Superintendents during the year under report were 9,720, and the total number of offences were 9,499. This difference is due to 221 offences in the past year having been dealt with by the award, of what is known as, combined punishments :—

	Total ...	1,949	2,188
	Grand Total ...	9,202	9,731

16. Of a total of 9,720 punishments awarded by the Superintendents of Prisons and Jails, 7,532, or 77 per cent., belong to the minor class, and 2,188, or 23 per cent., belong to the major class. Under the minor punishments warnings, and separate, cellular and solitary confinement show a decline, while the figures appearing against penal diet, hand-cuffing and link fetters and other punishments show an increase. Under major punishments separate, cellular and solitary confinement, corporal punishments, combination of minor punishments and other punishments show a decrease, while the remaining two heads show an increase. The increase of 11 under corporal punishments in the Prison of Kárwár is due to insubordination shown by some prisoners who were transferred to that Prison from Bombay. With regard to the increase of 15 corporal punishments in the Central Prison of Ahmedabad, it would appear that out of this number, 8 youthful offenders were given from 2 to 4 cuts in the way of school discipline; the remaining 7 do not appear to call for any explanation. Two Europeans were whipped for mutinous conduct and insubordination in the House of Correction against none in 1899.

17. The following table gives particulars as to the number of stripes inflicted in Prisons. The increase of 10 under "5 to 10 stripes" is due to the award of such punishments in cases of juvenile offenders only.

* The figures exclude the number of prisoners moved from Prison to Prison within the Department.

18. During the year under report, 9,008 prisoners wore fetters, compared with 6,443 during the year previous. This increase is mainly due to the inspection of segregation camps for prisoners on account of the prevalence of infectious diseases and to the accommodation of a comparatively larger number of prisoners in the Deccan Gang and the Nowpada Relief Camp.

19. Mark System.—Looking to the figures appearing in Statement C, which is one of the appendices to this report, it will be seen that 1,882 prisoners were released during 1900 under the Mark Rules against 2,050 in the previous year. This decline is due, in a measure, to the release, as an act of clemency, of some of the prisoners sentenced to one year's imprisonment whose offences were due to the prevailing scarcity. The percentage during 1900 of those released under Mark System to total number who might have been released under that system if of average good conduct up to date of release was 99·1, very similar to the figures given last year. The Superintendents of all Prisons and Jails have continued, during the year under report, the practice of mustering all prisoners and reading and explaining to them the benefits of the Mark Rules.

Statement No. VII.—Convict Officers.

20. The number of convicts employed as Prison officers in the Prisons and and Subsidiary Jails of the first and second class during the year under report was 1,013 males and 13 females, as compared with 878 males and 8 females in the year 1899, and this increase is due to the rise in the average population. There is a decline of 80 in the number of reductions or other punishments awarded to convict officers, which would appear to indicate better behaviour generally on the part of this class of servant. The ratio per cent. of the numbers of male Prison officers to the average number of convicts has fallen from 9·8 in 1899 to 8·8 in the year under report. This is due to the fact that it is not considered necessary to increase the number of convict officers in proportion to the number of convicts.

Statement No. VIII.—Diet.

21. The statement noted in the margin shows the different diet scales in force in the Prisons and Subsidiary Jails in this Presidency. These scales have been found to work satisfactorily. Such changes as have been made during the the year in the diet scales have been noted in the fifth column of the statement.

22. The statement referred to in the margin, which appears among the appendix to this report, supplies particulars regarding the under-trial prisoners admitted into Prisons, Subsidiary Jails and Lock-ups. The numbers received into Prisons do not show a very marked increase, while the admissions of this class of prisoners into our First and Second Class Subsidiary Jails have been actually small. In the Third Class Subsidiary Jails and Lock-ups, however, the number admitted during the year shows a very considerable increase, the figures being 89,249 in the year 1900 against 64,205 in the previous year. The daily average population of under-trial prisoners in the case of Prisons, Subsidiary Jails and Lock-ups has risen from 1,731 in the year 1899 to 2,856 in the year under report. The increase in the House of Correction is entirely due to the suspension of admissions of fresh arrivals, either convicts or under-trials, into the Common Prison of Bombay for reasons explained in paragraph 5 of this report. The increase is most marked in the Prison of Dhulia, while the Central Prison of Hyderabad and the Prison of Dhárwár show a decline. In the Lock-ups the increase is most marked in the Upper Sind Frontier District, the Districts of Ahmedabad, Surat, Khándesh, Dhárwár and Rájkot in Káthiáwár, while the Lock-ups in the City of Bombay show a decline of 861.

Statement No. XVIII. – Under-trial Prisoners.

23. The number of escapes have been 57 against 14 in the year 1899. Of the former number, 5 escaped from the Central Prison of Hyderabad and 3 from the Subsidiary Jail of Násik. The escapes from the Hyderabad Central Prison were due to the negligence on the part of the Police guard, under whose special charge the men were placed, and for which neglect the responsible parties were punished. This occurrence formed the subject of a special enquiry which was held, under the orders of District Magistrate of Hyderabad, by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate of Hála. The three men who got away on the night of the 26th January 1900 from the Násik Jail appear to have removed the plank ceiling of their barrack and thus effected their escape. The three policemen who were responsible for this escape were prosecuted before the Special First Class Magistrate of Násik, who discharged them, as he considered that they had not shown any particular negligence in the performance of their duties. Of the 49 escapes which took place from Third Class Subsidiary Jails and Lock-ups, 32 got away from the Lock-ups in the Khándesh District, 8 from those of Sátára District, 3 from those of the Bijápur District, 3 from those of the Dhárwár District, 1 from Poona District, 1 from Belgaum District and 1 from the Panch Maháls. The deaths amongst the under-trial prisoners have been 250 males and 13 females against 38 males and 1 female in 1899. These deaths, which are principally due to the broken down condition of the men, are distributed as follows:—

Males.	Females.
6	1	in the Common Prison.
7	0	in the Dhulia Prison.
3	0	in the Dhárwár Prison.
7	0	in the Thána Special Prison.
9	0	in the Ahmedabad Central Prison.
2	0	and 1 each in the Prisons of Kárwár and Hyderabad.

Of the 21 males who died in the First and Second Class Subsidiary Jails, 2 died in Násik, 9 in Godhra, 2 in Alibág, 3 in Belgaum, 2 in Wadhwán, and 1 in Sátára, 1 in Ahmednagar, and 1 in Surat. 56 males and 1 female died in the Third Class Subsidiary Jails, of which number 10 died in the Subsidiary Jails in the Thár and Párkar District, 20 in the Panch Maháls, 11 in the Kaira District, 4 in Hyderabad, 4 in Sátára, 2 in Násik, 2 in Bijápur, 1 in Sholápur, 1 in Kánara, 1 in Shikárpur and 1 female in the Ahmednagar District. Of the 139 males and 11 females who died in Lock-ups, 2 died in the Lock-ups of the Karáchi District, 28 in the Ahmedabad District, 16 in Kaira, 12 in the Panch Maháls, 9 in Surat, 62 males and 11 females in Khándesh District, 3 in the Districts of Sholápur, 3 in Belgaum, 3 in Rájkot in Káthiáwár, and 1 in the Kánara District. The following is the number of under-trial prisoners who were in confinement on the 31st December 1900: 358 males and 19 females in Prisons, 219 males and 7 females in the First and Second Class Subsidiary Jails, and 889 males and 38 females in the Third Class Subsidiary Jails and Lock-ups, making a total of 1,466 males and 64 females.

Civil Prisoners.

24. At the close of 1899, 64 Civil prisoners remained in confinement. 1,042 males and 1 female were received during the year under report, against 1,125 males and 2 females in the year previous. This falling off is evidently due to reluctance on the part of creditors to send their judgment-debtors into Civil Jail in a year of want and scarcity. The number of releases—1,040—nearly corresponds with the number of admissions, thus leaving 65 in confinement at the close of 1900. The number of deaths have been two—1 in the Civil Jail of Bombay and 1 in the Poona Civil Jail—against none in the year 1899. The total cost has fallen from Rs. 6,968 in 1899 to Rs. 6,834 in the year under report. On account of the comparatively small daily average number of prisoners confined—64 in 1900, against 73 in the previous year—the cost per head has, however, risen from Rs. 95-7-3 in the year 1899 to Rs. 106-12-7 in the year under report.

FINANCIAL.

Statements Nos. IX and X. —Expenditure.

25. The marginally noted statements deal with the gross expenditure on account of convicted and under-trial prisoners in the Central and District Prisons and the Subsidiary Jails and Lock-ups. The cost of Military and Police Guards has, as usual, been omitted from the expenditure, and the cash sale-proceeds of vegetables from the Prison and Jail gardens are deducted from the total charges. The gross expenditure during the year 1900 has been Rs. 10,44,733, and the cost per prisoner Rs. 71-4-2, against Rs. 6,90,485 and Rs. 63-7-10, respectively, in the year 1899.

Establishment.

26. Notwithstanding the increase under this head, due to the increased population of our Prisons and Jails, the cost per prisoner has fallen from Rs. 21-1-3 in 1899 to Rs. 16-15-5 in 1900. The increase in actuals under this head is due in Yeraoda to the increase of Press establishment, in Dhulia, Dhárwár, Kárwár and Ahmedabad to the employment of temporary establishment on account of the rise in the population, and in Thána to the employment of temporary establishment in connection with the Nowpáda Relief Camp.

Dietary.

27. The dicting charges have increased from Rs. 29-7-5 per head in 1899 to Rs. 42-3-11 in the year under report. This increase is entirely due to the abnormally high rates of food-grains, the prices for bájri, jowári and dhal being especially high during the year 1900. The contracts for the supply of provisions for our Prisons and Jails were again entered into for short periods, and were renewed from time to time, in accordance with the fluctuations of the market. In Aden the prices of food-grains have fallen, while in Sind they have not gone up so high as in the Presidency proper. The average cost of feeding prisoners in the Prisons of Karáchi, Hyderabad and Shikárpur and the Sind Gang has risen from Rs. 30-7-7 to Rs. 39-2-1 per year. In Bijápur and Dhárwár the cost has risen from Rs. 20-5-6 to Rs. 35-4-6; in Yeraoda, Dhulia and the Deccan Gang from Rs. 29-2-2 to Rs. 40-9-3; in Kárwár, Ratnágiri, Thána, Ahmedabad and Rájkot from Rs. 27-1-7 to Rs. 42-8-2, and in the two Bombay Prisons from Rs. 35-8-10 to Rs. 48-9-8.

Gardens.

28. The total value of vegetables and other supplies received from the Prison and Jail gardens during the year under report has been Rs. 32,683-13-5 against Rs. 20,538-8-3 in 1899, a very satisfactory increase.

Hospital charges.

29. The actual expenditure under this head shows an increase of Rs. 5,505, due to increased sickness in several of our Prisons, and to the high rates of food-grains. The average cost per prisoner shows a decline, having fallen from Rs. 2-12-4 in 1899 to Rs. 2-6-11 during the year under report.

Clothing and Bedding of Prisoners.

30. Tho increase under this head is principally due to the increased number of admissions in our Prisons. The enhanced rates for twist and wool have also, in a measure, contributed to increase the cost of clothing. In the Deccan Gang the cost has risen from Rs. 163 in 1899 to Rs. 1,720 in 1900, which is due to the cost of the clothing supplied in 1899 having been adjusted in the year under report. In the principal Subsidiary Jails the cost under this head has risen from Rs. 1-8-6 to Rs. 2-3-6, due partly to the higher rates paid for raw materials by the Prisons from which the Subordidate Jails drew their supplies, and partly to the issue of a comparatively large number of blankets—an expensive article.

Sanitation charges.

31. Although the total cost under this head shows an increase of Rs. 8,161 over the figures for the year 1899, the cost per head is nearly the same i.e., Rs. 2-1-9, in 1900 against Rs. 2-1-6 in the previous year. The Special Prison of Thána is to a considerable extent responsible for this increase. The expenditure in this Prison under this head rose from Rs. 2,536 in 1899 to Rs. 4,863 in 1900, due to the increased water-rates paid to the Thána Municipality and to the rise in its population. The charges for water-supply at the Yeracda Central Prison show an increase of Rs. 1,307 due to the higher average number of prisoners confined therein. The increase in the Common Prison of Bombay is attributable to the employment of temporary guards to look after sick prisoners removed for treatment to the Municipal Hospital for contagious diseases. In the Ahmedabad Central Prison the increase is due to the construction of six temporary huts at a cost of Rs. 1,559-1-5 for the accommodation of the excess population of the Prison. The cost in the Subsidiary Jails of the First and Second Class is a little over double what it was in the year 1899. This increase is due to the construction of temporary huts for the accommodation of prisoners removed from the Násik Subsidiary Jail on account of plague, and to the employment of temporary warders to look after the prisoners while in camp, the construction of temporary huts in the Subsidiary Jail of Bhusával, and the re-construction of the Segregation Camp outside the walls of the Sátára Subsidiary Jail.

Charges for moving Prisoners.

32. The cost under this head exhibits an increase of Rs. 6,078 over the figures of 1899. This increase is due in the case of Yeraoda, Ahmedabad, Karáchi and Sind Gang to the large number of prisoners released therefrom necessitating the payment of the prisoners' passage to their native places. The increase in Dhárwár is due to a large number of prisoners transferred to the Yeraoda Central Prison with a view to relieve overcrowding. The increase under this head in all the Subsidiary Jails is due to the larger number of releases as well as to transfers to Central and District Prisons. As no prisoners were deported to the Andamans in the year under report, there has been no expenditure under the head "Transportation charges," against Rs. 2,411 spent in 1899.

Charges for other Miscellaneous Services and Supplies.

33. The total cost under this head in Prisons shows a decline. We find an increase under the sub-heads Lighting Charges and Disciplinary Charges. The cause of increase under both these heads is mainly due to the formation of a relief camp at Nowpáda and the general rise in the population of Prisons. The expenditure for uniforms and equipments has fallen on account of much smaller number of Prisons having supplied uniforms to the members of their warder staff, this being a biennial charge. The decrease under "Other Miscellaneous Charges" is due to no extraordinary charges being debited under this head as was the case in 1899 when the freight for tents supplied to the Sind Gang had to be paid for.

Travelling Allowances.

34. The slight decrease in Travelling Allowances does not call for any comment.

Contingencies.

35. Although the total cost of contingencies during the year under report is slightly higher when compared with the figures for the year 1899, the cost per head has fallen from Re. 0-9-1 to Re. 0-7-2. The increase in the total cost is due to a large expenditure on postage stamps, indicating thereby increased clerical work due to the rise in the Prison population.

Extraordinary charges for Live-stock, Tools and Plant.

36. This head shows a decline of Rs. 4,784 as compared with last year, when heavy expenditure on account of tents for the Sind Gang and live-stock and dairy appliances for the Dhárwár Prison was incurred. No further comment appears necessary.

Statement No. XI.—Employment of Convicts.

37. Looking to the figures in the statement noted in the margin it would appear that the average number of prisoners sentenced to labour has increased from 8,483 in Prisons and 535 in Subsidiary Jails of the First and Second Class in 1899 to 10,745 and 891, respectively, in the year under report. The percentage of sick and convalescent in Prisons has been the same during the past two years, i.e., 5·7. Except under the heading "Extra-mural Labour" all the heads show an increase. The increase under the head "Average number not employed for other reasons" is due to the fresh arrivals being kept without employment in quarantine owing to the presence of plague, to men who had undergone inoculation and who were in consequence temporarily excused from labour, to the move of the Sind Gang from its old camp at Sajna Deh to a new one near the Bhiria Road Station in the Hyderabad District, and to the difficulty of finding suitable employment for prisoners accommodated in the Nowpáda Asylum buildings near Thána. For the large increase under "Unremunerative Labour" the Prison of Dhulia and the Deccan Gang are mainly responsible. On account of the large number of admissions into these Prisons for whom no remunerative labour was available, the excess population had to be employed on something useful, though not remunerative so far as this Department was concerned. A daily average of 104 prisoners was employed in the Prison of Bijápur in cutting down prickly pear. Had this labour been paid for the earnings would have amounted to Rs. 4,727 at the daily rate of 2 annas per head. As in 1899, see paragraph 52 of the Annual Report for 1899, so in the year under report, a daily average of 18 prisoners, or in other words 6,570 prisoners, from the Ahmedabad Central Prison, were employed on the charitable though unremunerative work of unloading and stacking grass, making fences, &c., at the Sabarmati Cattle Relief Camp. The value of the labour of these prisoners was equal to Rs. 809-12-0. The cost of guards—Rs. 345-15-9—employed to look after these prisoners was paid for by the Local Relief Authorities. Although "Prison Officers" and "Prison Servants" show an increase, owing to increased population, the percentage in each case is actually less, the figures being 9·2 and 8·9 in 1900 against 10·2 and 9·3 in 1899, respectively. To the increased requirements of the Prisons the increase under "Gardening and Grinding Grain, &c." is attributable. There was an increase in the number employed on "Manufactures". This is most noticeable in the prisons of Dhárwár, Kárwár, Ratnágiri and Shikárpur. The decline alluded to under the heading "Extra-mural Labour" is due to the Deccan Gang not having been employed on any remunerative labour during the greater portion of the year.

38. In Subsidiary Jails all the heads of the above statement exhibit an increase except under "On additions and alterations to Jail Buildings" and "Extra-mural Labour". This increase is due to increased population. The increase under "Sick and Convalescent" will be explained when dealing with vital statistics. The cause of increase under "Average number not employed" is mainly due to the removal of prisoners on account of plague from the Subsidiary Jail of Násik into temporary quarters where no suitable employment was obtainable during the period they were so accommodated, and, to a lesser extent, to the segregation arrangements in Sátára where men under quarantine were not given any employment. With regard to the increase under "unremunerative labour" I find that, as in the case of Dhulia and the Deccan Gang, it was found impossible to obtain remunerative labour for the large increase in the population. Although the number employed as Prison Officers and Prison Servants show an increase, the percentage under each head is lower than in the year 1899. The increase under "Gardening and Grinding Grain, &c." is due to the increased requirements in the Jails consequent on the rise in their population. The increase under "Manufactures" is due to much larger number of prisoners having been employed on breaking metal.

39. The statement referred to in the margin shows the net cash earnings of convicts sentenced to labour. Comparing the figures of 1899 with those for 1900 we find a considerable falling off, the figures being Rs. 62,622 in 1900 against 1,04,297 in the year previous. The average earnings per head of those sentenced to labour has been Rs. 5-6-0 against Rs. 11-9-0 in the year 1899, and that of those employed on manufactures has been Rs. 20-12-0 against Rs. 37. The loss is most marked in the Deccan and Sind Gangs, the Prison of Dhárwar, the Special Prisons of Thána and Aden and the Central Prison of Ahmedabad. As Government are aware the Deccan Gang was without employment for nearly the whole of the past year, and this accounts for its earnings having fallen from Rs. 20,138 to Rs. 499 only. With regard to the decrease in the Sind Gang it has been explained that the rate paid for the work on the Nasrat-Bagwah Extension is much lower than that paid for on the Sangrowah Diversion. For a 1,000 cubic feet of work in the latter place the rate paid was Rs. 4-2-0 against Rs. 3-4-0, which the convicts are at present getting on the Nasrat-Bagwah. To this must also be added the cost of moving the gang and the erection of its quarters during the year under report. A sum of Rs. 1,421 was earned by the prisoners of this gang in December 1900, but was not adjusted before the close of the year under report. The falling off in the profits of the Dhárwár Prison Factory operations is attributable to less demand for Prison-made articles. In Thána the falling off is more apparent than real, as the value of stock of manufactured articles and of raw materials on hand on 31st December 1900 is Rs. 5,371 as against 3,061 in 1899. The falling off in the earnings of the Aden Special Prison is due partly to the decrease in the number of prisoners employed in factory and partly to the less demand for Prison-made articles. In the Ahmedabad Central Prison the principal and well paying industry of carpet weaving had entirely to be stopped as the sheds had to be utilized for the accommodation of the excess number of prisoners. Further, in consequence of the rise in Prison population, there was a greater demand for Prison clothing. The articles of clothing cost Rs. 9,577 in raw materials alone against Rs. 6,302 in the preceding year. For these reasons profitable factory operations had to be curtailed to meet the demands of the Jail Department. The earnings of the Yeraoda Central Prison, of the Prisons of Dhulia, Kárwár and the three Prisons of Sind have been in excess of the figures of the year 1899. The loss of Rs. 263 in the factory operations in the Ratnágiri Prison is explained as follows. During the year 1900 its drawings amounted to Rs. 1,690-12-0 and payments to Rs. 1,425-5-0. A sum of Rs. 728 odd is however still due to the factory, and the closing balance of stock in hand is Rs. 341. Under these circumstances it will be seen that there is no real loss in the Prison factory. The principal Subsidiary Jails appear to have done very well in regard to their factory operations. The increase in profits being most marked in the Jails of Godhra, Surat, Bhusával and Belgaum.

Statement No. XII.—Net Cash Earnings.

40. During the year under report Jail-made articles of the value of Rs. 10,098 against Rs. 7,625 in 1899 were sold to Government Department, of which Rs. 2,488 worth were sold to the Public Works Departments, Rs. 1,298 to the Telegraph Department, Rs. 3,615 to other Civil Departments, Rs. 960 to Commissariat Department, Rs. 1,400 to Marine Department, and Rs. 337 to Military Department. Under the head "Public Works Department" there is a very considerable rise, while there is a slight falling off under Marine and Military Departments.

41. In the middle of April 1900 this gang moved its camp to Bhiria Road Station of the North-Western Railway in Naoshahro-Feroze Táluka in the Hyderabad District from Sajna Deh in the Mirpur-Khas Táluka of the Thar and Párkar District. The gang has earned Rs. 12,282 with an average population of 400 prisoners, as compared with 30,164 with an average population of 409 prisoners in the year 1899. The cause of this decrease is explained in paragraph 39 of this report.

Sind Gang.

42. The Deccan Gang was during the whole of the past year encamped near the town of Dhulia in the Khándesh District, and afforded a convenient means of partially relieving the very great overcrowding in the neighbouring Prison of Dhulia. Some of its prisoners were, for a time, employed by the Municipality on the Dedargám Road, and the earnings have amounted to Rs. 1,092-6-0. In addition to this, the gang has broken about 75,000 cubic feet of metal, 15,000 cubic feet of which have already been sold to the Public Works Department and some to the Railway Authorities, the value of which, when recovered, will amount approximately to Rs. 2,200. Under the orders of Government the gang was moved in the early part of April 1901 from its camp near Dhulia to Visápur in the Ahmednagar District for employment on the Visápur Tank project, and it is hoped that it will remain there for a considerable time to come.

Sale of Quinine Packets.

43. The profits arising from the Quinine industry in the Central Prisons of Yeraoda and Hyderabad have amounted to Rs. 1,251 as against Rs. 86 in the year 1899. It was explained in paragraph 58 of last year's report that the Director of Cinchona Plantations, having assented to our being supplied with quinine in bulk instead of ready-made packages, we should be in a position to carry on the industry at a profit after paying expenses of establishment. As will be seen by the figures given, this has proved to be the case. Quinine worth Rs. 7,612, and packing materials worth Rs. 905 were purchased during the year. A sum of Rs. 9,383 was paid into the Treasury, and an amount of Rs. 2,748 was due to Government at the end of 1900.

Yeraoda Printing Press.

44. In paragraphs 59 and 60 of the Annual Report of this Department for the year 1899, the progress made during that year by the printing industry had been reported. During the year 1900, this Press, in addition to supplying the wants of the Jail Department, has executed the following works:—

(1) Printing and binding of all books and forms for the Registration Department, numbering 1,761 and 175, 820, respectively.

(2) Making and printing of all standard and special envelopes for all officers in the Presidency, inclusive of Sind, but exclusive of the Presidency town in case of special envelopes only, their number being 56, 56, 304.

(3) The printing and supplying of forms to the Special Judge and Subordinate Judges under the Deccan Agriculturists Relief Act, numbering approximately 4,80,000.

(4) The preparation of guard books for the Stationery and Registration Departments, numbering respectively 1,300 and 1,761.

45. The Press Establishment consists of a Superintendent on Rs. 380, one clerk on Rs. 40, one Foreman Printer on Rs. 50, a Proof Examiner on Rs. 50 and a Third Class Engineer on a monthly salary of Rs. 35. The printing machinery indented for from England in May 1900 has arrived, and all that we require now, to enable us to develop this industry, is house accommodation. This question has been fully dealt with in this office letter No. 3619 of 17th June 1901, and it is hoped that Government will see their way to provide, at no distant date, a special building for the Printing Press.

46. From the figures appearing in the table below it will be seen that the Press has made a profit of Rs. 18,857-12-11. The establishment charges amounting to Rs. 5,461-4-1, and the value of raw materials amounting to Rs. 3,443-3-2, have been deducted from the gross value of the work turned out by the Press. No account is taken of the value of machinery, type, &c., received from England or purchased locally.

Deduct cost of Establishment, Rs. 5,461-4-1 ...	8,904	7	3
Contingencies „ 3,443-3-2 ...

47. As will be seen from this statement, the total expenditure, excluding charges for inspection and general superintendence, has amounted to Rs. 10,19,334 in the year 1900, against Rs. 6,65,271 in the preceding year. The total cash earnings during the same period have amounted to Rs. 62,622 against Rs. 1,04,297, thus making the total net cost to Government of the Department Rs. 9,56,712 in 1900, against Rs. 5,60,974 in the year 1899. The average net cost per prisoner during the year under report has been Rs. 65-4-0 against Rs. 51-10-0, an increase of Rs. 13-10-0. This increase is almost entirely due to the high cost of food-grains, also to the great increase in the prison population and to plague. The cost of feeding a prisoner in 1900 was Rs. 42-3-11 against Rs. 29-7-5 in 1899, a difference of Rs. 12-12-6. The increased Prison population and the plague necessitated the spending of large sums which could, in no way, be avoided. Every endeavour was made, and with success, to keep down expenditure on account of establishment, contingencies and extraordinary charges. These charges are more or less controllable and never rose in proportion to the increase in the Prison population.

Statement XIII.—Net Cost.

VITAL.

48. The marginally noted statement shows the sickness and mortality amongst prisoners of all classes during the year. With a daily average strength of 14,725 prisoners confined in Central, District and Extra-mural Prisons, Jails, Civil Jails and Lock-ups, there have been 11,451 admissions into hospital. The daily average number of sick has been 366·8, and the total number of deaths 836, or a ratio of 56·8 per mille of average strength. The figures for the year 1899 were as follows: Daily average strength 10,949, admissions into hospital 6,561; daily average sick 270·5; total number of deaths 276, or a ratio of 25·2 per mille of average strength.

Statement No. XIV—Sickness and Mortality.

49. The table which follows shows the capacity of several Prisons together with the daily average, and the maximum population on any one day during the year under report. The total accommodation in the Yeraoda Central Prison has been reduced from 1,482 to 1,430, due to one of the sleeping barracks having been made over for Press purposes. In the Aden Prison the accommodation has been reduced from 83 to 77 owing to structural re-arrangement of the Prison.

	Prisons.	Capacity, inclusive of Hospital and Cell accommodation.	Daily average.	Maximum Population.
1	Common Prison	180	400	521
2	House of Correction	262	353	519
3	Yeraoda	1,430	2,082	2,307
4	Dhulia	234	923	1,383
5	Bijápur	294	437	528
6	Dhárwár	336	708	844
7	Kárwár	252	314	365
8	Ratnágiri	228	224	263

13	Hyderabad	865	1,102	1,233
14	Shikárpur	433	607	705
15	Aden	77	24	39
	Total ...	6,678	10,572	12,764

50. From the table given in the last paragraph it will be seen that, looking to the daily average, all the Prisons except the Prisons of Ratnágiri, Karáchi and Aden have been overcrowded throughout the year. Out of the twelve Prisons, the Common Prison, House of Correction, Dhulia, Dhárwár, Thána and Ahmedabad, exhibit a rate of mortality in excess of 33·3 per mille of average strength, as also does the Prison of Ratnágiri, which was not overcrowded.

51. It will be also seen that it was not possible to terminate the overcrowding which existed in nearly all of our Prisons. The measures resorted to during the year 1899 to lighten the pressure on the regular sleeping accommodation have been continued during the year under report. Worksheds or other buildings were largely utilized for the accommodation of prisoners, and temporary sheds were erected wherever it was found necessary to do so. The uncompleted Asylum Buildings at Nowpáda were largely utilized for the accommodation of the excess population of the Special Prison of Thána. The largest number of prisoners confined in these buildings during the year under report on any one day was 349. The overcrowding at Dhárwár was partially relieved by transfer of over 400 prisoners to Yeraoda as reported in paragraph 32 of this report. The Deccan Gang was the means of relieving, to a considerable extent, the excess population of the Prison of Dhulia. On account of famine the population of our Prisons, which was already excessive, began to rise steadily in the first week of June when the figures stood at 11,473 until the third week in September when it numbered 12,320. It then gradually began to fall.

52. Looking to the figures in connection with the sickness and mortality amongst the convicts and under-trials confined in Prisons during the past two years it would appear that the daily average sick has gone up from 246·5 to 321·0 during the year under report. The ratio per mille of deaths to total population as well as to daily average strength is nearly double that of the year previous. The number of deaths has risen from 222 in the year 1899 to 536 in the year under report. The number admitted into Hospital has also risen from 5,512 to 9,012. The Prisons which show a ratio of mortality in excess of 33·3 per mille are those of Common Prison (130·0); House of Correction (36·8); Dhulia (57·4); Dhárwár (56·5); Ratnágiri (44·6); Thána (107·5); Ahmedabad (60·1), and the Sind Gang (65·0).

Common Prison.—Of the 53 deaths which took place, 24 were due to relapsing fever and 12 to plague. Deducting this number there remains 17, giving a ratio per mille of 40·6. Of the 17 deaths 4 were due to lung diseases, 4 to anæmia and debility, 2 to remittent fever, 2 to diarrhœa, 2 to heart disease, 1 to rheumatism, 1 to heat apoplexy and 1 to dysentery. Many of the above deaths were evidently due to the poor physique of the men. The outbreak of relapsing fever in the Common Prison formed the subject of Judicial Department Resolu- No. 3747 of 29th May 1900.

House of Correction.—Of the 13 deaths which took place, 2 were due to cholera and 1 to plague. The remaining 10 deaths gives the ratio per mille of 28·3. Of the 10 deaths, 3 were due to phthisis, 1 to Bright's disease, 1 to remittent fever, 1 to rheumatic fever, 1 to debility, 1 to hæmorrhage, 1 to pneumonia and 1 to rheumatism. The cases of phthisis and intermittent fever are attributed to the dampness of Bombay.

Dhulia Prison.—Out of a total mortality of 53, 24 were carried off by cholera, 2 by small-pox and 1, a fresh arrival, was found nearly dead at the main gate. Deducting these deaths, there remain 26, which gives the ratio per mille of 28·1. Out of these 26 deaths, 12 took place within a fortnight, 7 within 2 months, 2 within 3 months, 4 within 6 months, and 1 within 12 months of admission. The 26 deaths which occurred were due to the following diseases:— Respiratory diseases 9; dysentery 5; syphilis 3; dropsy 3; diarrhœa 2; failure of heart 1; leprosy 1; splenitis 1, and sunstroke 1. The mortality and sickness in this Prison is principally due to the emaciated condition of the prisoners admitted. On the outbreak of cholera the Prison was promptly evacuated and the prisoners accommodated in a camp erected at some distance from the prison. Within three days cholera had subsided and it practically disappeared on the 6th day after the evacuation of the Prison. A special report of this outbreak was submitted to Government and reviewed in Government Resolution No. 3028 of 10th May 1901, Judicial Department.

Dhárwár Prison.—Of the 40 deaths which took place, 13 were accounted for by respiratory diseases, 11 by diarrhœa, 6 by anæmia and debility, 2 by dysentery, 2 by pyæmia, 2 by heart diseases, 1 by tubercle, 1 by hemiplegia, 1 by synovitis and 1 by inflammation of cont. tissue. The cause of this high mortality is attributed to the weak condition of prisoners due to the scarcity and dearness of provisions generally. The Medical Officer writes :—"This deterioration of the general health of the natives has been noticed among those attending the Civil Hospital. The excessive overcrowding also had an effect in lowering the health standard of the Prison, and must be noticed as a cause of the increased mortality."

Ratnágiri Prison.—Of the 10 deaths that took place, 7 were amongst convicts transferred from the Yeraoda Central Prison and the Common Prison of Bombay. Of these 7, remittent fever was responsible for 4, and meningitis, albuminuria and heart disease for 1 each. Bronchitis carried off 2 and anæmia 1.

Thána Prison.—Of the 102 deaths which took place in this Prison, 38 were from cholera. Deducting the latter figure, the ratio of deaths to average strength per mille falls to 67·2; of the remaining 64 deaths, 28 occurred from amongst the convicts received from the Násik District. Of the 64 deaths 43 were on admission, more or less in an indifferent state of health. The reason of this high mortality is attributed to climatic causes as also to the weakly condition of convicts at the time of admission into Prison. The moat which surrounded the Prison, and which was believed to have an injurious effect on the health of the prisoners, is now filled up, and we hope that this measure will have beneficial effect on the health of the inmates of the Prison. With regard to the death-rate amongst the prisoners admitted from the Násik District, I would bring to the notice of Government that, in view of the remarks in connection with the sickness and mortality in the Special Prison of Thána in 1899, made by Surgeon-General Harvey, 23 prisoners were transferred from Násik to the Yeraoda Central Prison in April and 49 in May 1901; but this experiment could not be repeated on account of the overcrowded condition of the Central Prison. Of the 64 deaths—alluded to above—19 were due to dysentery, 14 to remittent fever, 6 to tubercle of lungs, 6 to pneumonia, 5 to scurvy, 5 to diarrhœa, 2 to epidemic diarrhœa, 1 to small-pox, 1 to cerebro-spinal fever, 1 to leprosy, 1 to eclampsia, 1 to fatty degeneration of heart, 1 to cirrhosis of liver and 1 to synovitis.

A special report was submitted to Government in connection with the outbreak of cholera, which was reviewed in Judicial Department Resolution No. 1637 of 12th March 1901. The Special Prison of Thána and the Nowpáda Asylum buildings, which contained an aggregate population of 1,100 prisoners when cholera broke out, were not evacuated, as, at the time of the outbreak, it was raining heavily in Thána and its neighbourhood, and the surrounding country was in many parts flooded.

Ahmedabad Central Prison.—Of the 112 deaths which took place, 28 were due to pneumonia, 23 to dysentery, 18 to diarrhœa, 15 to anæmia and debility, 4 to ague, 4 to tubercle, 4 to phthisis, 2 to valvular disease of heart, 2 to syncope, 2 to scurvy and 1 to small-pox, 1 to apoplexy, 1 to epilepsy, 1 to ulcer of cornea, 1 to bronchitis, 1 to pleurisy, 1 to necrosis, 1 to hemetemisis, 1 to abscess of cont. tissue and 1 to rupture of aneurism of the aorta. The cause of this high mortality is attributed to the poor condition to which the prisoners had been reduced by scarcity prior to their admission into the Prison. It is a significant fact that 63 prisoners died within six months of admission into the Prison and 20 within one year.

Sind Gang.—Of the 26 deaths which took place remittent fever carried off 8, influenza and pneumonia 7 each, heat-stroke 2, and diarrhœa and heart disease 1 each. Deaths from pneumonia and influenza were due to sudden variations of temperature, such cause being not removable. The country surrounding the gang camp at Sajna Deh was flat and irrigated by canals, and this appears to be the cause of fevers, especially in the months of July and August, when there was rain.

Plague.

53. During the year under report 19 cases of plague from the Common Prison were removed for treatment to the Municipal Contagious Diseases Hospital, of which 12 ended fatally. In the Central Prison of Yeraoda there were 5 cases and 4 deaths. The one case in the Special Prison of Thána recovered. There was one case recorded against the House of Correction. The man was a fresh arrival, and on being brought to the gate was found to be suffering from plague. He was immediately sent to the Arthur Road Hospital, where he died the same day. The Subsidiary Jail at Násik was responsible for 6 cases and 6 deaths, and Sátára for 1 case, an under-trial prisoner, who recovered. During 1899 there were 15 cases of plague with 8 deaths. In the Yeraoda Central Prison the first case of plague occurred on 5th October 1900, and the last indigenous one on the 17th of that month. An imported case occurred on the 26th October. The Medical Officer writes :—"All the four first cases had one common source from whence a possible infection might have arisen, and that was a bale of wool that was brought into the Prison on the 30th September 1900." On the occurrence of plague in the Subsidiary Jail of Násik, the Jail buildings were evacuated.

54. In a previous paragraph (52) of this report it has been shown that the ratio per mille of deaths in Central, Special, District and Extra-mural Prisons during the year 1900 has been 46·8 on the daily average strength. If the deaths from cholera and plague and relapsing fever were left out of account, the death-rate will fall to 37·6 per mille. In connection with the increase in mortality, the figures appearing in Statement No. XVII bear out what has been stated above. 284 prisoners died during the year 1900 within six months of their admission against 123 in the year previous, and 85 prisoners died from "above 6 to under 12 months" against 31 in the previous year, or more than 50 per cent. of the total number of deaths occurred within 12 months of admission.

55. The following measures were adopted during the year under report in some of our Prisons and Jails with a view to improve the health of the prisoners, and are inserted in accordance with the orders contained in paragraph 1 of Government Resolution, Judicial Department, No. 9115 of 29th December 1896 :—

(1) Issue of wheat in lieu of bájri and jowári.

(2) Issue of extra rations to weakly prisoners and convalescents.

(3) Issue of extra clothing to weakly prisoners.

(4) Issue of special diet to the above class of prisoners.

(5) Free administration of cinchona alkaloids whenever necessary in places showing tendency to malaria.

(6) Issue of potatoes three times a week in lieu of green vegetables.

56. Looking to the health statistics of Subsidiary Jails and Lock-ups, it will be seen that the total population has arisen from 75,879 to 104,095 and the daily average strength from 1,956 to 3,224. The daily average sick has risen from 24·0 to 45·8. The total deaths have risen from 54 in 1899 to 298 in the year under report. The ratio of deaths per mille to daily average strength has risen from 27·6 to 92·4. This is attributable to the poor physique of the prisoners.

Statement No. XV.—Chief Diseases.

57. Looking to the figures appearing in the marginally noted statement, it would appear that there were 121 admissions and 64 deaths from cholera during the year under report against 12 admissions and 7 deaths in the year previous. Of these, 2 admissions and 2 deaths took place in the House of Correction; 54 admissions and 22 deaths in the Dhulia Prison; 3 admissions and 2 deaths in the Deccan Gang; 58 admissions and 37 deaths in the Thána Special Prison, and 1 admission and 1 death in the Hyderabad Central Prison. There were 2 cases in the Ahmedabad Central Prison and 1 in the Prison of Rájkot, which recovered. In the Subsidiary Jails of the First and Second Class there were 12 cases, of which 8 proved fatal, which are accounted for as follows:—Násik 9 admissions and 5 deaths; Umarkot, Godhra and Alibág 1 admission and 1 death each. Malarial fevers appear to have prevailed to a very considerable extent during the year under report, and the Prisons of Yeraoda, Dhulia, Ahmedabad, Hyderabad and the Sind and the Deccan Gangs appear to have suffered most. With regard to the Yeraoda Central Prison, the Medical Officer states that there were no stagnant pools nor neglected drain channels, and that mosquitoes were fewer than usual in and around the Prison. The prisoners transferred from the Prison of Dhárwár, mentioned in paragraph 51, appear to have suffered to a considerable extent. In the Central Prison of Ahmedabad the increase is attributed to increased rainfall. No presence of mosquitoes was noticeable. In Dhulia it was attributed to climatic changes. The Medical Officer writes that in Thána "Overcrowding existed throughout the year and this may have had an unfavourable influence on the general health of the prisoners. Another prejudicial element in the health of the Prison is large tract of marshy ground on the East, North, and part of the South side of the Prison. This tract of marshy ground is inundated twice a day by the tide running in from the Thána creek, and with each tide is left a very large amount of organic residue to rot and decompose during ebb time. This evil is irremediable." To the above causes the cases of dysentery and diarrhœa, as well as in a minor degree the admissions under respiratory diseases are said to be due. The weakly condition of the newly admitted prisoners was responsible for cases of anæmia and debility.

58. Of the 25,865 prisoners who were discharged during the year 16,546, or in other words 64 per cent.—against 53·3 in 1899—increased in weight. The percentage, 18·6, of those who lost weight is less than that of the previous year, and so is also the number who remained stationary.

Statement B.

OFFICIAL AND NON-OFFICIAL VISITORS.

59. For 17 Prisons and 13 principal Subsidiary Jails there were 238 official visitors during the year. 74 quarterly meetings were held and were well attended. 978 visits were paid by official visitors and 88 by non-official visitors to Prisons and Subsidiary Jails.

BUILDINGS.

60. During the year under report a sum of Rs. 5,000 was sanctioned by Government for certain additions and alterations to the Aden Special Prison. Rs. 7,770 were also sanctioned for minor works for the Prisons of Dhulia, Thána, Hyderabad, the Common Prison of Bombay and the Subsidiary Jail of Godhra. In addition to the above, a sum of Rs. 3,000 was allotted as the discretionary grant for this Department, of which amount Rs. 2,978 have been expended.

MISCELLANEOUS REMARKS.

61. During the past year the following Prisons and Subsidiary Jails were visited by Mr. Filgate :—

Central Prisons.	District Prisons.	Subsidiary Jails of 1st and 2nd class.	Subsidiary Jails of 3rd class.	Gangs.
Hyderabad. Yeraoda. Ahmedabad.	Thána. House of Correction. Common Prison, Karáchi. Shikárpur. Dhárwár. Bijápur. Dhulia. Rájkot.	Násik. Sátára. Belgaum. Sholápur. Ahmednagar. Bhusával. Surat. Broach. Godhra. Wadhwán.	Sindkheda. Nandurbár (Khándesh District).	Deccan Gang.

62. No cubicles have been provided in any of our Prisons and Jails, but, as stated in paragraph 89 of the Administration Report of the Bombay Jail Department for the year 1899, provision has been made in the plans and estimates of the new Karáchi Prison with a view to its sleeping barracks being fitted up with cubicles.

63. The revised Bombay Jail manual is nearly complete, the final chapters being under the scrutiny of Government.

64. The Report promised by Mr. Filgate in regard to the extension of Jail accommodation in the Bombay Presidency in paragraph 93 of last year's annual Report was submitted to Government on 31st October 1900 under this office No. 6965. Orders of Government in connection therewith—vide Judicial Department Memorandum No. 3918 of 19th June 1901—have recently been received in this office, and it is earnestly hoped that Government will be pleased to see their way to provide funds for some of the very pressing works in this Department.

65. Under the orders of the Government of India, promulgated with General Department Resolution No. 2292 of 20th April last, paragraph 16, certain tables which appeared in last year's report, the three maps and the appendix showing the names of Superintendents and Jailors have been omitted from this report. Endeavours have also been made to shorten the report, and I hope that next year I shall be able to still further reduce its size.

66. This report is long overdue. It should have been with Government on the 1st May. The reason for the delay in submitting this report is as follows:—Instructions were issued by this office in December last to all District Magistrates regarding the preparation and submission of the statements relating to the 3rd class Subsidiary Jails due in this office on the 20th January. Most of these returns came in late from the District Magistrates and this was no doubt due to Táluka and Mahál lock-ups being declared Subsidiary Jails of the 3rd class for the first time. In the month of March reminders were issued by my office and on the 17th April Government were addressed on the subject of the delay. On the 1st May the returns were due from the districts of Kánara, Sátára, Broach and Panch Maháls, and on the 17th June I received the last of the Subsidiary Jail returns. It was of course quite impossible to commence the report before the arrival of the figures, and it will be thus seen that the delay in submitting it is due to causes beyond my control.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

H. N. ALEXANDER,

Inspector-General of Prisons.
